

By the end of the lesson, the student will be able to:

* differentiate the usage of the quantifiers: much, many, a little and a few.

Let's Study!

much	with uncountable nouns in singular	How much money do you have left? I don't have much left.
many	with countable nouns in plural	How many dollars do you have left? I don't have many left.
a little	uncountable nouns	How much money do you have left? I have a little money left.
a few	countable nouns	How many dollars do you have left? I have a few dollars left.

 We often use much/many in questions and negative sentences.
 We use a little/a few with the more positive meaning.

Let's Try!

1. How ___ people are there in the room?
2. There are _____ people in the room.
3. How _____ water can you drink in a day?
4. I can't drink _____ water.
5. Can you tell how ___ stars are there in the sky?
6. I believe there are ___ stars in the sky.
7. I've got ___ friends.
8. I've got _____ prune juice in my fridge.
9. There aren't _____ information in this site.
10. There are _____ books in this library.