

Carmen: Welcome to Life's concern. I'm Carmen Cole, your host for today's program. We have our first caller, Hiro. Hello...

Hiro: I'm from Japan. I have a boyfriend from India whom I met here in the U.S.

Carmen: Okay, and what's the problem?

Hiro: He proposed to me but my parents don't agree on international marriage.

Carmen: Hmm...

Hiro: I can't tell my parents because I'm afraid. He wanted to visit Japan and I'm worried about it. Do I have to put off the visit?

Carmen: That's Hiro's problem, folks. Now, what's your advice to her?

Respond to the Ideas

1. What are your advices to Hiro?
2. What are your views regarding International Marriage?
3. Give one advantage of International Marriage.

LET'S TALK

1. If you were in the same boat with Hiro, what would you do?
2. Example you are married to an American and you have children. They are confused where to live. If they live in America, they will suffer from racial discrimination. If they live in Japan, there will be language problem. What will be your decision? Why?
