

Whore, lady of pleasure, call girl, white slave. These are just some of the words use to name women who earn through offering sexual pleasure to men. Can you blame these people for engaging in white slavery?

Supporting Arguments

Position One : Prostitution should be legalized.

- Regulating the industry should result in safer working conditions for prostitutes.
- Prostitution will never be eradicated so we should simply focus on improving the service.
- The government is missing out on a lot of uncontrolled tax.
- Having stricter control in place should help reduce the spread of sexually transmitted diseases
- A proper training program could be introduced to improve the service.

Position Two: Prostitution should remain illegal.

- * Legalizing prostitution would only serve to further morally corrupt our society.
- Legalizing prostitution would encourage more men to cheat on their wives.
- Prostitution increases the risks of sexually transmitted diseases.
- Prostitution is linked to many other crimes.
- It gives the police something to do when they are bored.

Questions to think about.

- 1) Do prostitutes deserve to have rights such as safe and pleasant working conditions?
- 2) Would the legalization of prostitution likely lead to the legalization of other illegal activities such as drugs?
- 3) Prostitution has been called ‘the oldest profession on earth’. Does this mean it must be necessary?
